

the way we keep your energy running...

In the years Orion Italia has taken part to important international engineering projects, becoming the “protection relay specialist” whenever simplicity, reliability and certified quality in control and measurement were requested. In fact, the quality management system of the overall business of our company fulfils the demands of the international standards of the ISO 9001:2000 certification

Did you know that our relays are currently protecting:

- The subway system of the city of Caracas, Venezuela (Line 3)
- The lighting distribution systems of the cities of Milan and Pisa
- The medium voltage distribution of the city of Cremona

And did you know that we were supplying:

- Energy equipment for the TV broadcast at Athens Olympic Games 2004
- Protection Relays for the light distribution system of the soccer stadiums during the European Football Cup in Portugal 2004

We have also been collaborating with the ENI Petroleum Company and we often play important roles as suppliers for spot collaborations with well known companies (ex. ABB Automation Italy, GE Power Controls Italy, Barilla, Italian Public Train Company).
